Shadow's Edge: Where Your Illness Doesn't Define You—You DO!

What if you had the power to save an abandoned city through your self-expression? Shadow's Edge, a new free mobile game for teens dealing with medical conditions or emotional challenges, is where you can write to find your voice that your challenges may have taken away. Come restore an urban world as you create graffiti to revive Shadow's Edge—and help yourself too by expressing the real you.

You needn't stay in a dark or confusing world—you have the power to reshape it. You can create beauty where there was once dilapidation: There can be light; there can be color; there can be hope.

It's Urban. It's Edgy. And it can help you through tough times. Check it out—its free, why not? Downloaded like any other app on the App Store and Google Play.

Here is what our players are saying:

"I discover things about myself I might not have realized," Rowan

"I've actually come to tears playing this. Thank you for helping me heal my heart." Keyla
